Dear Fair Oaks participants!

Courage is a virtue.

Courage is a virtue that helps us to go ahead with our objectives and intentions.

It also represents all other virtues we identify with like patience and compassion.

Sharing our humanity among each other helps us unite as a community and takes us back to our roots of resilience, survival and recovery. Patience and compassion is a Skill we need to work on daily and eventually, it will become part of who we are.

We can come together "in the spirit of community" by remembering our deepest points of patience and showing compassion for one another.

It takes courage to offer our kindness to someone in need, to listen to us, smile, care for ourselves, and connect with that person who is lonely or isolated.

Remember that the way we live our lives will be a beacon to someone else. empower and promote a better quality of life for our older adults.

Taichi boost memory

In the midst of our hectic lives, forgetfulness can be attributed to distraction or fatigue. A recent study suggests that tai chi, a slow form of martial arts, can help slow cognitive decline. The research involved around 300 older adults, averaging in their mid-70s, who were experiencing memory issues.

Participants who practiced Tai Ji Quan twice a week for six months saw a 1.5-point improvement in cognitive tests. This increase could delay cognitive decline by about three years. A more challenging form of tai chi, called Cognitively Enhanced Tai Ji Quan, boosted scores by about 3 points, equivalent to six extra years of cognitive function.

Tai chi combines memorized movements and physical activity, which experts believe may explain its effectiveness. While the results are noteworthy, the exact reason behind its effectiveness is not yet fully understood. Moreover, tai chi also offers physical benefits, such as improved balance and fall prevention.

It's worth noting that the study's population was primarily non-Hispanic white and had college degrees, so further research is needed to understand the benefits in a more diverse population. Nonetheless, tai chi shows promise in maintaining both mental and physical health as we age.
